Foreword

Through the years to come as you leaf through the pages of the ole '49 INDIAN we hope a torrent of memories will gush from its leaves and bring back the recollection of those warm spring nights in the Ballroom of Danner Hall swaying smoothly to the latest love lyrics, those cold wet tramps to Aggie Inn for black coffee and a trial shot on the pinball machine during first semester exams, or those swell "gab sessions" in the smoke-filled Wigwam.

Yes, in this volume we've attempted to capture all that and more. In these pages we, the INDIAN staff of '49, have tried to penetrate to the very core of ole ASC and bring out all the beauty, joy, friendships, and studies that make college days so rare and enjoyable. As you glance at your INDIAN in the days ahead we hope old memories will spring up anew.

Dedication

DR. HOMER C. HUITT

The sincere friendliness, the eagerness to help out in any situation no matter how trivial or significant, and the warm cheerfulness of the familiar figure above captures the heart of every ASC student. On every notable occasion you can spot this rather short, twinkling, dark-eyed little man racing here and yon with his faithful camera.

Social Science students get a new outlook on history as his able mind recalls personal touches and interesting anecdotes not found in the pages of the textbooks.

No matter how erroneous a student's views or opinions may be, this understanding professor admits that "he has a good point there and will he look up some further material on it?"

Everyone is familiar with his rapid-fire discourse which he recognizes himself as being sometimes indistinguishable.

So it is that we, the INDIAN staff of '49, wish to dedicate this volume to Dr. Homer C. Huitt, Head of the Social Science Department, who has served ASC so conscientiously and so well for over a decade.

SENIORS

As in 1849, our modern State College '49ers are also looking for the pot of gold at the end of our rainbows as we come to the close of our college careers . . . Some of us were here long enough to make it seem like a career . . . Despite a hard year's study the senior class accomplished many things on the campus . . . A Memorial bench for the east side of R. E. Lee Wilson Hall . . . A standardized ring for the future seniors . . . Attended the many social functions so graciously afforded by the Faculty Women's Club, the Junior Class—and others . . . Come the middle of the second semester initiated a "something new" to Arkansas State College, the Senior Sneak Day . . . In saying goodbye, the seniors wish the juniors all the luck in the world and we will our seats in chapel to anybody who will take them . . . Goodbye you-all . . .

Give Your Gripes

So, you have a complaint to make! Was your name misspelled? You say your picture didn't flatter you? Maybe you were even completely omitted from this year's INDIAN. You mean that your hometown wasn't listed and that your last name really isn't as bad as it appeared on the page?

Well, you just sit down and give that ole goat, the Editor, a generous piece of your mind. Get it off your chest. List your grievances on this page, rip it out, and mail it to the unfortunate Editor and tell her just what you think! It's the nearest thing to a black eye that you can inflict on a female editor, and you'll probably glean much personal satisfaction in so doing.

Arkansas State College, though now greatly expanded into many other fields, was founded principally as an agricultural institution, and the INDIAN staff feels that notice should be taken of this pioneer department.

In the following pages, a brief pictorial outline attempts to give a rough sketch of the work and scope of the agricultural field at State College.

In his two years' stay at State, Dr. Delzie Demaree has become something of a legend with his tireless energy, endless curiosity and enthusiasm for biology and botany.

As both subjects are innately concerned with agriculture, a page is here devoted to Dr. Demaree and his botany. Above, Dr. Demaree shows some of the finer points in plantology to a fascinated student. Below: the itinerant Doctor on one of his numerous field trips. A common sight about the campus is that of Dr. Demaree tramping through the fields in search of some new specimen of flower or plant.

The Museum of Arkansas State College is located in three spacious rooms in the west end, first floor, R. E. Lee Wilson Hall.

One room contains the Carroll H. Lutterloh Exhibit presented to the Museum by Mrs. Lutterloh in August, 1948, although it has been on display at the College for several years. This collection consists of a large, valuable and varied assortment of fine glass, china, silks, laces, wood carvings and many other items gathered together by Mrs. Lutterloh on her world tours covering a period of over ten years.

MUSEUM

On the adjoining page at the lower right you see the top shelf consisting of sparking lamps, the second shelf with fine Majolica and the third shelf containing a rare Leeds tea set, Canton bowl, and black basalt Wedgewood tea set.

A view of the document room and office of the Curator, below at right, shows a case of Spanish and Italian objects of art dating back to 117 A.D. Below at left you see a closeup of Spanish and Italian Art, with the head of Emperor Hadrian, First Roman ruler and Pope 117 A.D., which was excavated in Spain, Colony of Rome.

The third room contains the Pioneer Exhibit. It is filled with household and farming implements of the early days of our country and also some 125 pieces of firearms of early vintage.

They always hit the steps of WRH two seconds past curfew, they tramp the tender sprigs of campus grass to the roots with their errant feet, they are responsible for the rain on dance nights, and lipstick on boys' collars. They boo at all ball games and always walk out on chapel programs. Their careless paws wreck the typewriters in the Journalism Department. They swipe all available male pictures off bulletin boards, and you know that huge stack of books down in Dean Farrar's office — well, they belong to these absentminded but loyal members of this notable club.

Those leaky showers, those spine-tingling shrieks of horror that reverberate through the empty halls of the dormitory around 2 a. m., those electric irons that need overhauling are all a result of the fiendish antics of these winsome girls.

Fire-cracker incidents, lab explosions, towel fights, F's on term papers, sagging bus seats, and Wigwam collisions are a regular daily routine of this riotous squad.

Oh, yes, we almost forgot — the sacrificing sponsor of this unique organization is Miss Helen Wheels who had her wig at the Cleaners when this photograph was taken and was therefore unable to pose with the girls.

Highlights of the Accounting Club during the year were the wonderful meals served in the private dining room of College Cafeteria every two weeks . . . Outstanding speakers from all the accounting firms in Jonesboro and surrounding areas . . . Spring picnics, many informal get-togethers, starting an Accounting Library for the future students of accounting . . . Witty remarks by Bud Curtner . . . Continually boosting and begging that more and more accounting be included in the schedule . . . Special meeting honoring the outstanding Business Administration student . . . Yep, all in all, the Accounting Club had a big year with over thirty members and John Childers as president . . . Foster Bowden always led the discussions and the chow lines at the feeds — He was also the sponsor . . .

One of the most versatile bands in existence featuring most versified talents in the world (we think) . . . "Triple Forte" Hendrix's one man brass band and Oscar Elliott's one man drum section (power incorporated) . . . The Twelfth Street Rag—it's revival and subsequent murder at every football game by the State Band jam artists . . . . Array of feminine pulchritude at the front of our band . . . . Indian war dances of old never had such beautiful form (s) . . . . Jonny Boggess, stunt major, elected football queen and the band honored her with heart formation at the half of the Homecoming Game . . . . A new twist, formation in the dark with luminous painted caps, turned out swell despite electricians lighting mistake . . . . That trip to Memphis State game . . . . Branch, Price, and Daugherty Co. make rehearsals on 4 cylinders — sometimes (no reflections on your Packard, Branch) . . . . Two parades on Armistice Day . . . . One of the highlights of year was participation in Cotton Carnival Parade . . . . Concert tour . . . . Bright red jackets at the basketball games . . . . Band Clinic with representatives from all towns of Northeastern Arkansas . . . .

The Herald staff at work? Yes, Tex and the gang are pictured slaving around the big desk in the journalism room with a deadline hanging somewhat heavily over their heads.

While Tex swings the whip, the rest of the crew is busy writing heads, dashing out corrections, rewriting and copyreading the fantastic works of the reporting class.

The reporters have one consolation, however. If someone criticizes their efforts, the cubs can always claim that crazy editing class fouled it up.

Scribbler's Club

Front row: Jennings B. Curtner, Kenneth Braden, Jayne Joyce Lybrand, Don Baker, Phyllis Ford, Bebe Coffey, John B. Webster.

The Arkansas State College Scribblers' Club is composed of young ambitious men and women with itchy typewriter fingers.

Too democratic to have officers, the Scribblers are drawn from "Tex" Plunkett's journalism classes and have a desire to write—anything to keep from working.

Formed this semester under trying circumstances, the Scribblers haven't had time to sponsor any activities and couldn't anyway, probably.

Some members have already sold stories, others are still sending them in, and still others are hoping. Good luck!

Bountiful B. Bailey

A most serious, grievous, unforgivable error has been committed by our staff in the omission of one of our most distinguished Freshman scholars — Miss Bountiful B. Bailey — and to atone for this horrible mistake we are devoting an entire page to this popular and lovable as well as devastatingly charming personality.

Miss Bailey is sweatin' out a lengthy curriculum for a M.B.Ph.S.D. Degree in Gold-bricking Science. She is an active and ardent participant in many extracurricular activities as well as a loyal and dependable member of Alpha Delta Pi Gamma Pi Sorority for Girls, the honorary fraternity for scholastic loafers, a Pi Theta Pappa Key Holder, a candidate for Who's What Among Undergraduate Pilferers, an Honorary M.P. in the R.O.T.C., the Engineers Choice for the Beard Award, the Mu Mu Mu Fraternity's bid for the Wigwam Wag, and many other numerous campus clubs.

We sincerely hope that this special spread will prove to Miss Bailey, that most deserving girl, that we are extremely sorry for this most unfortunate error. We are sure that such a broadminded student will see that everyone makes mistakes, and we know she'll forgive us if we omitted any other honorary degrees which we did not mention above.

Through the following pages the INDIAN staff has attempted to give the reader a pictorial glimpse of one of State's largest and most important departments, the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, Field Artillery, of Arkansas State College.

With the formation of a new battery, "C", the ASC military has become the biggest in its history. Numbering around 250 in strength, the ROTC far outstretches any of its pre-war predecessors.

Advanced classes are now growing larger each year with the addition of new courses and specialized training for prospective officers. Formerly composed almost entirely of veterans, the advanced courses are now filled with graduates of the basic two years' course.

Its three officer and four enlisted-man instructional staff, headed by Colonel Sweany, PMS & T, has been entirely responsible for the rapid growth and expansion of the department.

The 1948 INDIANS — pretty scraggly looking in this picture, but this was the only way in which the entire squad, including the meatballs who did all the work and took all the punishment, could be included in the annual. A lot of these dropped out when the going got rough, of course, but most of them stuck with it.

With a squad of 79 men out for the first drills and a goodly quantity of reserve lettermen to bolster the returning starters, the Arkansas State College Indians had a fair season for '48 with four wins, four losses and a tie. Coach "Frosty" England's boys opened with a 14-0 victory over Mississippi College's Choctaws and eked out a 13-12 win over powerful Western Kentucky's Hilltoppers.

Then Delta State's Green Wave held the Tribe to a 13-13 tie. In the final home game, the Indians romped over the Henderson Reddies 34-14.

Away from home, the Redskins didn't have such good luck, losing a 37-6 decision to Kansas State's Wildcats and a 14-7 affair to Middle Tennessee's Blue Raiders. The Tribe outfought Southern Illinois University's Maroons 27-21 but went on to drop two straight, to Northwest Louisiana's Demons 41-6 and Memphis State Tigers 34-13.

HARRY LANCHE

JOE SHAW

Larche, a 225-pounder from Kennett, Mo., was named the outstanding lineman in a poll conducted among members of the Redskin squad. Big Harry has since signed with the Baltimore Colts of the All-American Conference to play pro ball next year.

In addition to this, the Missourian was named first string tackle on the Southern Squad in the annual Blue-Gray All-Star game at Montgomery, Ala.

The opposite in size of Big Harry, Little Joe Shaw, 170 pound ball-handling wizard from Marked Tree, was named the outstanding Indian back by his team mates. A superb passer and clever signal caller, the junior quarterback was easily the key to the Indian offense in '48.

Shaw will engineer the '49 Redskins "11" while Larche is slated to receive his degree in May.

With most of the team back from '48, Coach "Ike" Tomlinson set out to take the state cage crown and did just that. The title wasn't official in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference, however, but the Tribe licked the AIC champion Ozarks two straight, won ten tilts without a loss in the loop, and represented the state in the NAIB basketball tournament at Kansas City. What more could you want?

Powered by high-scoring Big Ben Wilhelm, clever ball-handler Maurice Miller, hot-and-cold forwards Paul Mason and Ray Scott, and dependable guards Al Hutson and Clyde Benson, the Tribe compiled a record of 14 wins and 12 losses for the season, including the NAIB defeat by Hamline's mighty Pipers. Sox of the losses were against the best northern squads on the opening New-York-Michigan circuit. Once the ASC crew hit the home stand, they took eight straight wins, including a victory over mighty Delta State.

Able reserves helping the State cause were elongated Dee Bonner, forwards Jesse Bucy and Harold Waddle, and guards John Beardon, Ray Saunches and Mayo Foley.

For the season, the Indians piled up 1,434 points while their opponents, among the toughest of the nation, scored 1,478 against them.

ARKANSAS STATE CHAMPIONS! The 1948 ASC track team pictured above took the AIC meet in Little Rock by storm and hung up the first cinder path title the Indians have garnered in 15 years.

Mentored by Coach H. J. "Nick" Nichols, the State trackmen have practically all the veterans of '48 back for this year and should have another fine season.

Paced by ace performers Paul Mason, Dale Hudson, Dee Bonner, John Taylor, Everett Branch, Bob Brooks, Frank Hyde, John McGuire, Billy Thornton, Joe Fason and Bill Clark, the Redskins made it hot for every team they met after a slow start the previous season.

On the opposite page are action photos of the State trackmen in action on the cinder paths and in the field events.

When baseball time comes rolling around, these fellows are in a second Heaven. After two successful seasons, the majority of the players pictured will be around for the '49 season this spring.

"Ike"

Coached by Athletic Director J. A. "Ike" Tomlinson, the ASC baseball nine has already produced two pro prospects in Pelham "Junior" Austin, hard-hitting short stop and Graham Dickson, fancy-fielding first sacker.

Mainstays of the team this year are expected to be J. C. Smithers at short stop, Skeeter Kell at second, Maurice Starr at first base and Ray Saunches behind the plate. J. L. Horton and Norm Farley are accomplished outfielders and will likely patrol the pastures for the '49 Indians.

On the opposite page is a galaxy of action shots of games and closeups of the individual players. In the center is ASC pitching mainstay Bennie Wilhelm while at upper right is backstop Ray Saunches. Lower right is outfielder John Dickey of the '48 squad.

The fine art of grunting and groaning on an amateur plane is the successful business of these Arkansas State College State AAU title holders of '48.

Since the above picture was made, the ASC boys have done it again, taking the '49 AAU crown on a near clean-sweep.

"Nick"

Ace Coach "Nick" Nichols has molded a group of boys around nucleus of experienced high school wrestlers from Granite City, Ill., (Tom Carmody, Jake Durham, Walt Wilson and Carl Greenwald) and built up one of the best teams in the Mid-West.

Although half of the team had never seen college wrestling before going out for the sport, fellows like Harry Larche, Joe Shaw, Julius Palone and Dale Hudson quickly developed and became tops.

On the opposite page are several action shots made during meets with other schools.

A novelty in Arkansas institutions of higher education is the class in Chamber of Commerce organizations conducted at Arkansas State College by Elton Patterson, director of the Jonesboro Chamber.

Begun the first semester last fall, the class was instrumental in getting several students into this line of work and showed definite possibilities of becoming an important department at the College.
